In his second lesson he spoke about having weekly challenges designed for students, the goal of which is to inculcate students having a holistic approach towards life problems and having a critical point of view towards any circumstances they face in the future.

His last lesson focussed on the importance of getting hands on training while still incorporating both formal and informal learning.

The first day of National Skill Convention,2022 concluded with a video of our skill ambassadors expressing their views on incorporating skills into our daily lives as a youth. Finally, the vote of thanks was delivered by Sahil Advani.

Day 2:

The program was inaugurated by Dr. Hrishikesh Soman, Principal of Symbiosis College of Arts and Commerce, Pune followed by Dr. Tessy Thadatil introducing the speakers and the event

The skill ambassador Sahil Advani introduced the first speaker for the day - Mr. Rishi Kapal, Stanford Alumni, who had 5 plus years of experience in entrepreneurship coaching. The following were the agenda's he spoke about:

1. Avenues of Career initiation
2. Factors that influence career decisions
3. Current industry scenario
4. Digital transformation skills
5. Necessary Competencies
6. Standing out of the crowd
7. Staying curious

The individual should be aware of the required skills needed for their subjective industries. He talked about the 6 sectors that are rapidly growing, them being, E-Commerce, Entertainment, Energy, Edtech, E-health, and Essentials. Furthermore, he mentioned which are the top 5 profiles today to advance your career, them being, Digital Marketing & Analytics, AI, Cloud transformation, Blockchain and CyberSecurity. He talked about specific competencies one should have as an employer, like how to deal with problem specific scenarios and how you can collaborate with others as a leader. Lastly, he concluded by emphasizing on the importance of building a good resume and having competent soft skills.

Skill Ambassador Saarika Nair introduced the next speaker for the day was Ms. Shruti Chakke, who talked about letting kids imagination run wild and seeing how their creativity reflects in real life. She has worked in several foundations and NGO's, such as Agastya Foundation, Anandi Learning Space, Jeevandre School, among many others. To give an example, her project with Anandi Learning Space, even won an award for their exemplary work in helping students to learn from home. At the end, she winded up her talk by speaking about the 3H's, them being, Bright Head, Kind Heart and Skilled Hands.

The program went on with a video of skill leaders, presenting critical point of view on domain and professional skills.

Skill ambassador Goutami Rane introduced the third speaker of the day - Dr. Yogesh Kulkarni, Executive director at Vigyan Ashram,. His organisation builds entrepreneurs from budding students, hailing from a rural background. It is located at Pabal, near Pune, where the local community can avail services that are commercially unaffordable. They provide Diplomas for youth, aged between 15 to 20, in multiple fields such as engineering, home and health sciences. He inferred his session by elucidating the absence of skill development in the community and how one can use this gap as an opportunity to hone their skills.

Last but not the least, Ms. Teresa Jacobs, Executive Director of Learning at ISDC was introduced by Sidharth Rajee Nair. She spoke about canning the old learning pedagogy and replacing it with a advanced, more hands-on approach to learning. She and her team wanted to embed employability skills in the current generation of learners, and how to focus on not just the theoretical knowledge but the application of it. Her focus was to use skill-based assessments rather than physically writing exam, which she found were tiresome and time-consuming. Her solution came from Scotland, which has an excellent research model, which gave them guidance in creating the program and developing it further. Her program's main aim is to support lifelong learning rather than simply getting into university and finishing the program with no professional skills learned.

Finally, Dr. Neelofar Raina, gave the concluding remarks for all of the esteemed speakers, by summing up what they all had focused on, for the past 2 days.
