“Lead The Time, Don't Be A Victim Of Time”- Sushant Gaurav

On the morning of the April 15, 2022, the first session of the Career Building Webinar, organized by the Placement Cell, commenced. The speaker for the session was, our esteemed alum Mr. Sushant Gaurav.

The proceedings commenced with an introduction of the Placement Cell to the audience. Faculty-in-charge of the Placement Cell, Dr. Nilesh Waghmare, briefed the audience about the session and the benefits of the same. This was followed by Chinmayee who enlightened the audience with a background and introduction about Mr Gaurav. Mr Gaurav, a passionate Kathak dancer who has now built a successful marketing career.

Sushant started his address by thanking the Symbiosis family and Dr. Nilesh Waghmare for all that they have taught him. He proceeded to talk to the audience about the type of employees companies look for and how organizations only pick people who are all-rounders and integrated. He spoke about how the organizational culture has changed and how one can now directly convey their ideas to the CEO. He told the very intrigued audience that organizations look for insightful, integrated individuals with fresh ideas.

Mr. Gaurav then moved on to talk about how his art is integrated in his work. He told the audience about the power of storytelling and how he nailed his IIM interviews with his storytelling prowess. He gave the audience extremely helpful tips about how to answer various questions thrown at you during interviews. He spoke about how his art has taught him patience which is a huge skill to master when one is in a managerial role.

He then enlightened the audience about how he, himself is a brand and how he portrays himself on stage as a dancer played a crucial role in mastering this skill. He told the audience that books only give foundational level knowledge and what you learn outside is what matters the most. He explained how his co-curricular activities played a huge role in shaping him as an integrated person, he gave insightful tips on ways to stay updated in an ever-changing field. He concluded his address by telling the audience that his art has shaped him as a successful person. His address was followed by a Q&A session in which the students enthusiastically asked the speaker their doubts. The session was finally concluded with a vote of thanks to express gratitude to the speaker.

This session was extremely helpful to students who were trying to juggle both curricular and co-curricular activities together. The session proved to be extremely informative and insightful to all the students who were present.

Mayank Sir started his address by thanking the Symbiosis family and Dr. Nilesh Waghmare for giving him the opportunity to guide the students. He proceeded to talk to the audience about their idea of success in their life. To which the students replied with various answers. To which in turn he replied with that success actually means finding peace and happiness in your life. He told the very intrigued audience about how profession and passion go hand in hand.

Mr. Goyal then explained about the true meaning of dream which means to achieve something in your life, for which we need to believe in our potential and sacrifice some things in order to achieve something big. He gave the audience extremely helpful tips on how to balance your academic life, extra - curricular activities and your hobbies. He spoke about how doing extra - curricular activities during his college helped him to grow as an individual.

He then shared his college experience with the audience about how he used to attend classes regularly and how being attentive in class helped him to develop his technical and critical thinking skills. He then made an emphasis on the importance of interacting with classmates and professors. Asking questions in class helps a lot with your communicational skills.

Then he went on to describe his college life in three words that is studies, college events and being ourselves. Mr. Mayank then moved on to talk about the importance of time management. He focused on the significance of being consistent and dedicated towards your work. And how it is important to balance your life with work. Working hard is the key to success. He explained how it is important to have faith in yourself to achieve all your dreams.

His address was followed by a Q&A session in which the students enthusiastically asked the speaker about their doubts. He concluded with one thought that is “You have to fight to reach your dream. You have to sacrifice and work hard for it. The session was concluded with a vote of thanks by Sai Kharade. The session proved to be extremely insightful for the students who were present. This session will surely help students to achieve their dreams in life.
